

BIMCO would like to invite you to an engaging “power panel” debating:

Challenges and the future prospects for the dry bulk and oil tanker shipping markets including the 2020 global sulphur cap experiment

WHEN:

11:30, Wednesday
6 June 2018

After the seminar, join us for a networking reception at around 13:00.

WHERE:

Meeting room: Seminar Room Central
At Athens Metropolitan Expo
(Posidonia Exhibition building)

FREE FOR REGISTERED
GUESTS

CLICK HERE TO SIGN UP

Registered guests will receive an appetizer for the event 2 days before the event.

BIMCO would like to invite you to a free seminar including a “power panel” debating some key developments impacting your shipping business today. Focus will be on challenges and future prospects for the dry bulk and oil tanker shipping markets, including the 2020 global sulphur cap experiment.

BIMCO’s “power panel” will be hosted by BIMCO’s Chief Shipping Analyst Peter Sand and BIMCO President Anastasios Papagiannopoulos will open the event.

PROGRAMME:

➤ Welcome

by BIMCO President Anastasios Papagiannopoulos, Principal, Common Progress

➤ Introducing the debate and the panel

by Peter Sand, Chief Shipping Analyst at BIMCO

➤ Power panel debate

hosted by Peter Sand, Chief Shipping Analyst at BIMCO

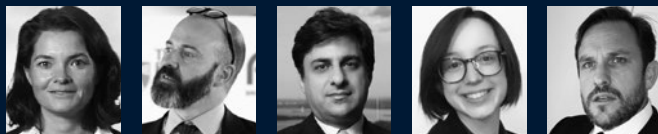

Henriette Brent-Petersen, MD and Global Head of Shipping and Offshore Research at DVB Bank

Simon Ward, Director at Ursa Shipbroking

Basil Karatzas, CEO of Karatzas Marine Advisors & Co.

Valentina Vignoli, Market Analyst at Peninsula Petroleum

James Leake, Analyst at N.S. Lemos

Sponsors:

RiskIntelligence

Please note that all delegates need to register as visitors also of the Posidonia exhibition, as access to the venue is only allowed to those who have a badge. This can be done on the spot and does not involve any cost. To save time at the entrance to the building you can use the following link to pre-register online: Posidonia Visitors Registration